

DIVERSITY

Diversity

There is so much diversity in the world and encouraging kids to read about it helps them accept themselves and others. When they see that we are all alike and different, it helps them can celebrate both community and diversity.

This activity packet includes a selection of resources for educators, parents/ caregivers, and students.

Booklist: A recommended list of books about diversity.

Puzzles and Activities for Students: Resources about diversity designed for independent student use.

Take-Home Activity: An activity about diversity designed to help students continue learning at home.

Classroom Activity: An diversity about diversity designed for the classroom.

We suggest you print and copy the Take-Home Activity and Puzzles and Activities for Students pages and send them home to extend the learning.

Take-Home Activity

Family Venn Diagram

Your child has been learning about diversity at school and this activity is designed to extend the learning at home.

Even within a family, we find a lot of diversity. Use this activity to show your child that differences are natural, interesting, and special.

STEPS:

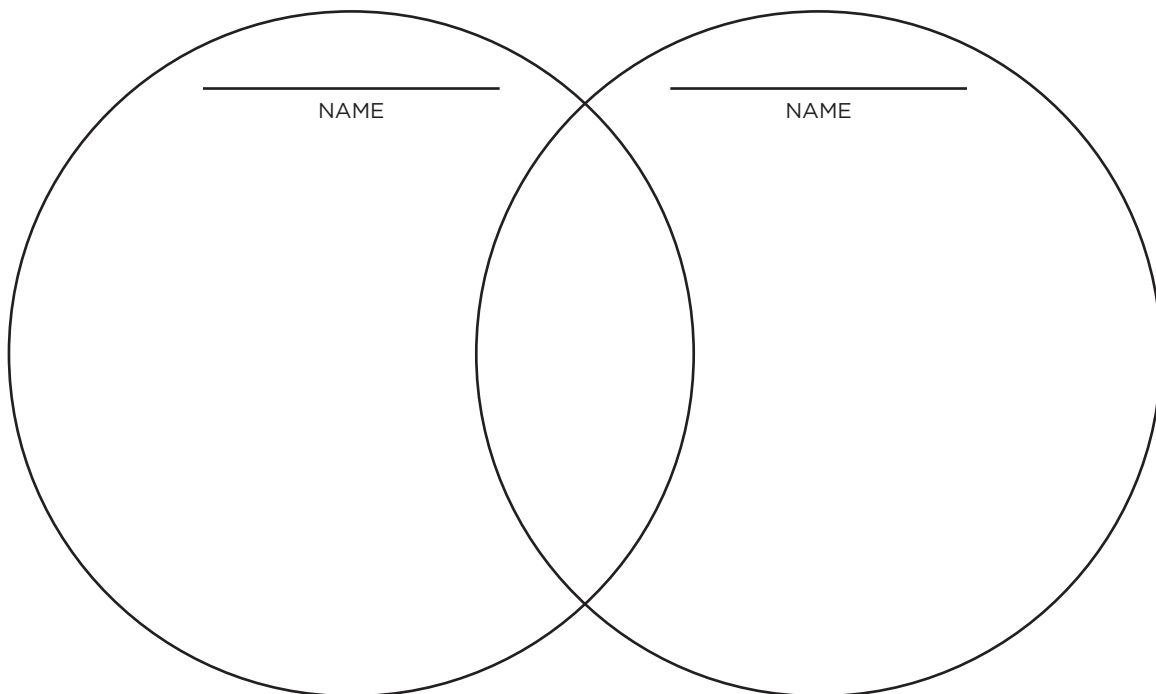

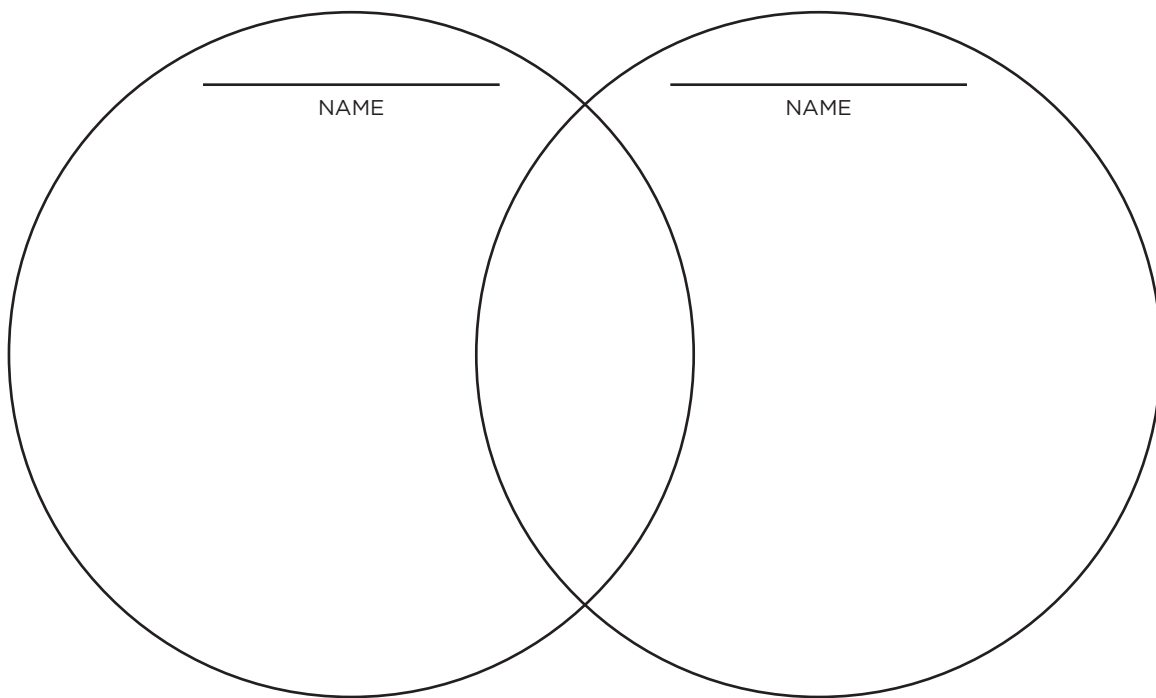

1. Think of one or two unique and special qualities each member of your family has that they do not share with other family members.
2. Then, think of traits or characteristics that your family members have in common.
3. Complete the Venn diagrams on our Family Venn Diagram page to see how people are both alike and different, even within your family.

After this activity, expand the discussion from individuals to your entire family's structure and history. You can use our starter questions or think of your own to emphasize family, history, and tradition.

- Where are our ancestors from?
- What stories are passed down from generation to generation in our family?
- What special holidays and traditions do we celebrate in our family and culture?
- What special foods do we cook together to celebrate our culture?

Classroom Activity

You Are Unique

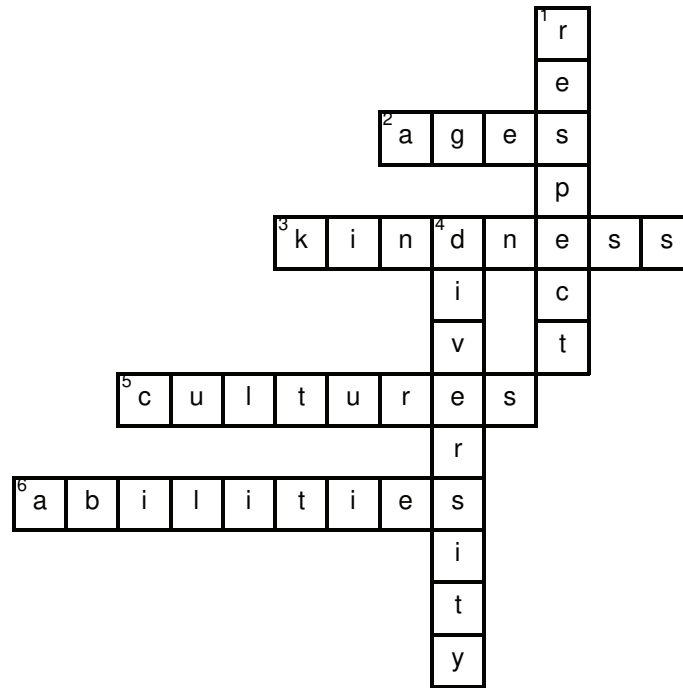

This activity is designed to be done independently with optional class sharing at the end.

STEPS

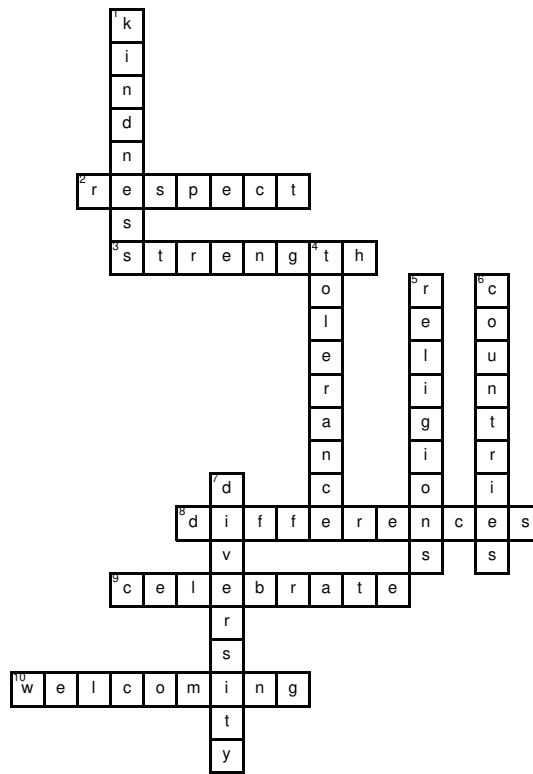

1. Tell your students they will be writing an acrostic poem using their first names. [An acrostic poem is a poem in which the first letter of each line spells out a word (in this case, a name). Students may write one word, one phrase, or one statement for each letter of their name.]
2. Create an acrostic poem using your name as an example and talk with the class about how and why you picked each word, phrase, or statement for the letters in your name.
3. Provide time for students to write their acrostic poems. (For students who aren't yet writing, give them two options: 1) invite them to draw pictures for the item/symbol for each letter or 2) have them copy the letters of their own name and use it as a coloring sheet.)
4. Invite students to share their acrostic poems and, during discussion, talk about how different – and special -- everyone's poems are.
