

Now Tim is hungry. Tim sits at the table. Tim eats and looks outside. The rain makes big puddles. Tim likes puddles. Tim wants to splash in them.

Splashing in Puddles

Tim's alarm clock rings. Time to wake up. Tim sits up in bed and looks outside. The sky is cloudy and rain is falling. Tim gets dressed and gets into his wheelchair. Tim goes to the bathroom.

But Tim is in a wheelchair. Tim cannot splash with his feet. What can Tim do? Tim has an idea. Tim puts on his coat. Tim puts on his hat. Tim gets swim fins. Tim goes outside. Swim fins? Is Tim going to swim? No, Tim is not going to swim.

Tim is going to splash! Tim rolls into a puddle. The puddle is deep. Tim puts the fins on his hands. Tim uses the fins to splash. Splish, splash, splish. Tim has fun. Tim gets wet. Tim is happy!
